Freight Business Good on Mo. Pac. Nashville Branch

Editor The Star: Enjoyed your informative railroad article and the idea of trying to get the steam engines from the 'Possum Trot Line for possible use on the Nashville branch as a tourist attraction.

Being a long-time resident of Hope and on "the wrong side of the tracks" and a neighbor of the Nashville branch since 1911, I have spent many frustrating hours and driven probably in the hundreds of miles trying to cross the tracks from the Hope Brick Works crossing to the high dump on Washington St. I can recall the two daily mixed trains to Nashville carrying passengers and freight consisting of probably six or eight cars at the most compared to today's long daily freight trains consisting of around 100 cars.

Yesterday, Sept. 5, 134 cars went to Nashville and beyond, and 89 returned this morning, Sept. 6.

So I would hardly agree with your summary that this track will ever be abandoned (Daily Bread of Sept. 5).

HARRY W. SHIVER
Sept. 6, 1972
Hope, Ark. 71801

That's the fatal weakness of introducing theory into a fact report—while you're pondering theory some observer is going behind your theory and actually counting freight cars.

Simultaneously with Mr. Shiver's letter I received our exchange copy of Louis Graves' Nashville News dated Sept. 5 which made a report in Louis' Facts & Fancies column supporting Shiver's statistics on the Mo. Pac. branch line freight business. Editor Graves wrote:

"On this Thursday morning, Aug. 31, clikety-clacking over the MOP rails at the E. Shepherd St. crossing were three diesel engines, 52 freight cars and the caboose. Quite a rail load moving through our little village."

So it appears that I am going to have to retreat under this shower of adverse statistics and return with a revamp of Pod Rogers' program to find a new use for the 'Possum Trot Line trains which shortly will suspend operations between Reader and Waterloo.

Instead of visualizing the abandonment of the Hope-Nashville branch freight line and installing a passenger excursion business on "vacant rails," as suggested in our piece of Sept. 5, we suggest sandwiching the passenger excursions between the freight trains on Mo. Pac's prosperous branch line.

If that's not extracting this column from a tight place then my name is not Editor.

Gunmen shoot 8 Americans

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, V.I. (AP) — Police hunted today for four or five gunmen wearing green fatigues who machine-gunned eight Americans to death during a robbery in the golf clubhouse of a Rockefeller resort in the Virgin Islands.

Officials would not release the names of four of the victims, but Lt. Gov. David Maas said they were believed to be tourists from the U.S. mainland.

A spokesman for the Rockefeller family in New York said two of the victims were tentatively identified as Pat Tarbert, a girl who worked in the club's golf shop, and John Gulliver, a groundskeeper.

'Breaking in' new manager

Garland Medders, at right, former Hope city manager, gives some advice to new City Manager Gerald Keith, who assumed the position Sept. 1. (See article below.)

New city manager for Hope

Gerald Keith assumed his duties as city manager of Hope, effective Sept. 1. Keith was named to replace Garland Medders, who is retiring.

Keith, 31, comes to Hope from Taylor, Tex. where he was city manager for three years. He has also served as assistant city manager at Victoria, Tex. Keith has a BA degree from North Texas State University, Denton, with a major in government and a masters degree in public administration from the University of Kansas, Topeka.

He and his wife Diana have a son Christopher, 3, and a daughter Jennifer 9 months.

Garland Medders came to Hope in 1957 as the first city manager in Arkansas. He will continue in an advisory capacity with the city Water and Light Plant. Mrs. Medders is a teacher at the Brookwood school and has taught in the Hope public schools system since moving to Hope. The Medders have three daughters, Mrs. Bill Georges, a teacher at SMU in Dallas; Mrs. Leslie Bryant of Springfield, O., formerly assistant city manager at Bangor, Mo., and also at Springfield, Ohio; and Miss Gayle Medders, who is employed as an accountant in Dallas.

Senate defeats initial plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has defeated an initial attempt to give larger industrial states a bigger share of the money in a $34.8-billion revenue-sharing bill.

The 61-24 vote Wednesday against the amendment by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., was no surprise because senators from small states outnumber those from the bigger states which would have benefited from Ribicoff's proposal.

Ribicoff sought to change the distribution formula in the bill approved by the Senate Finance Committee. The committee altered the House-approved version in ways that favor 33 smaller states and cause losses to only 17.

Nevertheless, senators from the big urban states said they would make further attempts to revise the formula.

DEBATE CONTINUES

Debate on the major bill was to continue this afternoon.

Ribicoff insisted that the large states "get far less than their fair share" under the distribution formula worked out by the Senate committee. The House version is more favorable to the industrialized states.

"The rejuvenation of our cities was one of the prime considerations in the development of the revenue-sharing concept," the Connecticut senator said.

But, he went on, the state, with the most severe urban problems are discriminated against by the Finance Committee's plan.

Ribicoff sought to introduce into the formula a special allowance for urbanized population.

This would have been added to the three factors used by the committee—state population as a whole, state per-capita income, and state general tax effort—as the basis for apportioning federal funds.

APPOSES ADMENDMENT

Finance Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the bill, strongly opposed the amendment.

He said the smaller, poorer states were helped in the formula adopted by his panel because the per-capita-income factor was added specifically to aid them. These states need the help more than the big ones, he declared.

Long argued also that the central cities would gain under his committee's bill although most states in which they are located would not. The losses will be sustained by the suburbs surrounding the big cities and they do not need aid, he contended.

The Senate voted 58 to 26 Wednesday in favor of an amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., setting minimum wage standards on jobs or projects financed at least 25 per cent by the federal funds.

German police still seeking 15; investigation pressed

MUNICH (AP) — West German police hunted for 15 more Arabs today and pressed an investigation into the airfield killing of nine Israeli hostages on Tuesday.

Bavarian state police said the 15 were suspected of being accomplices in the planning and execution of the Arab terrorist attack Tuesday that killed two other members of the Israeli Olympic team and culminated in the airfield shootout.

Five of the terrorists and a West German policeman also were killed at the airfield. A German helicopter pilot was seriously wounded. Three of the terrorists were captured slightly wounded.

The three captives were identified as Ibrahim Badran, 20, Abd Es Kadir El Dnawy and Samer Mohamed Abdullah, both 22. They claimed to be students and said they last lived in Jordan and Syria.

A Bavarian court official said they faced multiple charges of murder. They were being interrogated at an undisclosed location.

The court had until Thursday night to issue formal charges. The maximum penalty for premeditated murder is life imprisonment, there being no death penalty in West Germany.

The Olympic competition, suspended 12 hours after the first Israeli was killed in the Olympic Village, resumed late Wednesday with big crowds. But at least four Dutch and 12 Norwegian team members decided to abandon further competition. They said they were shaken by the killings of the Israelis.

An Israeli jetliner flew 10 of the bodies home to Israel today along with the surviving members of the Israeli team. The U.S. Air Force was bringing the body of the 11th victim, weightlifter David Berger, back to Cleveland, Ohio, his former home, for burial Friday.

The first two Israelis were killed when the terrorists invaded their quarters at the Olympic Village before dawn Tuesday. Late Tuesday night the Arabs and their nine hostages were taken to Fuerstentfeldbruck military airfield in two helicopters where a Boeing 727 was waiting, ostensibly to fly them to the Middle East. The Arabs said they would free the hostages if Israel released 200 guerrillas jailed in Israel.

But the Interior Ministry said German authorities were convinced that "a flight out of this country would have meant certain death for the athletes." Afterward Premier Golda Meir of Israel expressed approval of the decision to try to kill the terrorists and free the hostages.

The circumstances of the shootout at Fuerstentfeldbruck were still unclear, and the West German government said it was investigating.

The Munich police initially said the first shots were fired by one of the Arabs who reacted hysterically when he saw police waiting at the airfield. But the police later retracted this and said further investigation showed police sharpshooters opened fire when two of the guerrillas showed themselves in an especially favorable position. However, the police said the sharpshooters were unable to knock the two Arabs out of the battle before they got off shots of their own.

The police said the visibility also was very poor — it was about 11 p.m. and the airfield was not illuminated — and the sharpshooters were using telescopic sights to fire at shadows. Expressions of grief and protests continued abroad.

At London Airport, union leaders of ground crew personnel for Trans World Airlines said the crews would boycott Kuwait Airlines—which TWA handles—for 48 hours to protest the Munich slayings.

Moscow police rounded up 55 Jews who tried to demonstrate outside the Lebanese Embassy. They were questioned and released without being charged.

Nixon administration is pushing for agreement on ways to curb terrorists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is pushing on a broad diplomatic front for international agreement on ways of curbing terrorists. But no such accord is expected soon.

Late Wednesday, the State Department called in envoys from 40 countries to start consultations on what might be done to prevent recurrence of such incidents as the mass murder of Israeli Olympic athletes seized by Arab commandos.

Department spokesman Charles Bray said afterward that the diplomatic talks may go on "for days, weeks and months." It is "obviously a very complex, difficult and perhaps protracted problem," he said.

Administration strategists resisted calls for a quick crackdown on specific Arab countries, though Washington reverberated with exhortations for tough action.

Blaming the Egyptian and Lebanese governments for the murders, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern said President Nixon should demand that Egypt "root out" these international outlaws "as a price for resuming diplomatic relations."

The Senate voted 82 to 0 in favor of economic sanctions against nations harboring terrorists.

Administration officials said their information still is unclear as to the membership of the Black September group blamed for the Munich terror, nor can they be sure of its sources of support.

They contended that public fingerprinting at foreign governments at this stage is not a good way of enlisting their cooperation in curbing terrorists.

Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak

Rabin left open the possibility of Israeli retaliation in talking to reporters after an hour-long session with Secretary of State William P. Rogers. But Rabin stressed the need for making clear the responsibilities of governments against terrorists.

Bray said Israel, which wants the current Olympics halted, did not ask the United States to withdraw its team.

Ground-breaking at hospital held

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held at the Hempstead County Memorial Hospital Wednesday for a new $80,000 laboratory and X-ray department.

The new addition to the hospital will cover approximately 2,978 square feet, adding a complete new laboratory and doubling the size of the existing X-ray department.

Additional laboratory equipment capable of adding important laboratory tests to those now in use will be purchased in the future.

The area now used as a laboratory will be made into a second emergency room and waiting room. The additional space in the X-ray department will provide space for a second X-ray machine in the future, and a radiologist's reading room and film storage.

McGovern blasts Connally

DALLAS (AP) — George McGovern is in Texas trying to cement former Gov. John B. Connally into position as a symbol of special interests and tax loopholes.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, said late Wednesday that if Connally — a Democrat turned supporter of President Nixon — were boosting McGovern's White House hopes instead, "I'd really know I was off the track."

"It hasn't surprised me at all that John Connally and his billionaire friends have decided they are more at home supporting Richard Nixon's brand of Republicanism than they are backing the Democratic national ticket this year," McGovern told a crowd of about 3,000 in downtown Dallas.

He contrasted Connally to two other well known Texans — the late Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn and former President Lyndon B. Johnson, whom McGovern visited at the LBJ Ranch last month. Those men, McGovern told the enthusiastic and predominantly young crowd, "never ran away from the Democratic ticket in a presidential election year."

In this, his second visit to the populous and therefore politically important state, McGovern planned appearances today at a Dallas supermarket to illustrate what he terms the failure of the President's anti-inflation efforts, and a trip to the Houston Space Center. Later today he planned to campaign in Peoria and Rockford, Ill.

In other McGovern campaign developments:

—The Democratic hopeful stressed harder than any time since his nomination that his campaign needs money.

"We've been trying to be as optimistic as we could," he said in a television interview in San Diego Wednesday before leaving for Texas. "But I think the time has come for us to let people know that we need money. We need help. It is uphill."

—There were indications that voters are increasingly concerned about McGovern's position on so-called quotas for employment. Before the Southern California Board of Rabbis in Los Angeles early Wednesday and again in San Diego questioners asked McGovern if he supports quotas for racial, sex or age groups.

McGovern said, "I do not personally believe in percentage quota systems. I would never sign my name on anything saying that 10 per cent of the people in a particular department have to be black or brown or red. I would say that we have to step up our efforts to recruit more people from these minority groups that have been passed by."

Hot Springs, ABC to bump heads over drinking issue

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Legislation may ultimately be the answer, but the issue of whether Hot Springs bars may serve late-night drinks probably will wind up in the courts first.

The city and the state's liquor enforcement agency are at loggerheads over how late the drinks may flow.

Some believe that an outcome adverse to Hot Springs could work an economic hardship on this tourist-and convention-oriented resort city.

J. P. "Bob" Brumblow, head of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, says his agents will enforce closing hours of 1 a.m. on weekdays and midnight on Saturday. The Hot Springs City Council adopted an ordinance Tuesday night setting a 3 a.m. closing time for most of the year and 4 a.m. during the horse racing season at Oaklawn Park.

The 1969 law that authorized the sale of liquor by the drink does not establish a closing time. But Brumblow insists, and the city disagrees, that the law restricting the retail sale of beer and packaged liquor is applicable to the sale of mixed drinks.

Although the issue has the earmarks of a city-state confrontation, Mayor Tom Ellsworth says Hot Springs is not picking a fight with the ABC.

"The only way we feel we can arrive at a conclusion as to what authority we are under is to enact the ordinance...to get to court," he said. "I assume there now will be a friendly request of the court for a declaratory judgment."

The city will not initiate the litigation, Ellsworth said. He said he guessed that local bar owners would.

While the decision is pending, he said, he did not believe any bar operator in Hot Springs planned on disobeying the ABC order to stop dispensing cocktails at the ABC-prescribed hours.

If there is an adverse decision, one route that could be followed by the public bars is to apply for private club status. The drink-dispensing hours of private clubs are not regulated by the state, according to Brumblow.

But Ellsworth said such a development would work a hardship on tourists and conventioners and create a policing problem for the ABC.

Discrimination in V-T schools said 'built-in'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A report by the Arkansas Council on Human Relations said Wednesday that vocational technical schools had "built-in discrimination."

The report said this was not purely racial, but was "a bias against all persons, black and white, who do not fit the white middle class norm."

The report said the vo-tech schools were run by whites, with no blacks at "higher level" positions.

"Blacks who wish to attend them must be willing not only to go to what is essentially a 'white' school, but also to 'become white'...to adopt 'the standards, values and mores of white, middle class culture,'" the report said.

There is no overt, conscious discrimination by instructors or school administrators, the report said, adding that the enrollment of blacks in the vo-tech schools was roughly proportionate to the nonwhite population of the state.

The report said the schools shared with the public schools an "institutional bias" damaging to blacks and nonmiddle-class whites.

Elijah Coleman, the council's executive director, said bias was manifested in subtle ways, such as the assignment of black administrators to "special programs" dealing largely with the disadvantaged; assignment of black teachers to courses leading toward occupations, such as "cooking," in which blacks have traditionally been accepted, and more rigid enforcement of "white middle-class virtues" with black students than with whites.

The report claimed that 98 per cent of the state's educational resources were devoted to higher education.

'Gator hunt brings out the Louisiana agents

GRAND CHENIER, La. (AP) — About three times the normal number of Wild Life and Fisheries agents patrol the marshes of Cameron Parish during the first legal alligator hunt in a decade.

The road patrols are beefed up, agents fly night and day surveillance in light planes, and patrol boats skim the bayous and inlets throughout the 750,000 acres opened to hunting.

By Wednesday—the second day of the 13-day experimental season—the net result of this round-the-clock enforcement was four boats ticketed for improper registration.

"If any alligator poachers are operating in this area, they must be pretty slick," a WL&F spokesman said.

Minor confusions that marked the start of the season apparently smoothed themselves out. "The hunters did their homework on the tagging system, and everything's going real smooth," said Wildlife biologist Ted Jeanen.

WL&F did not set bag or possession limits on the gators as with other game in hunting seasons. Instead, it issued interlocking metal tags to landowners on the basis of land area and marsh type, since certain types of marshes support a more dense population of alligators. The total allowable was set at 4,000, but only about 2,000 of the tags have been issued.

Each skin taken must be tagged. Once pierced through the gator hide, the tags cannot be removed without destroying them.

Jeanen estimated 150 to 200 gators were killed Wednesday, bringing the two-day total of confirmed kills to around 300. Not nearly all of the kills are confirmed, however, since hunters are not required to bring their gator hides in until four days after the season closes.

"In the stomachs we've examined so far," Jeanen said, "we've found a lot of nutria, muskrat and blue crab." All are cash crops for the trappers and fishermen.

"Most of those we've checked have been over near the Texas line in Johnson's Bayou," Jeanen said.

Bullets shattered dream of Brandt

BONN (AP) — The bullets that brought death to the 1972 Olympics may also have shattered Chancellor Willy Brandt's long-prepared reconciliation with the Arab world.

Three months ago, Egypt became the sixth country to pledge resumption of diplomatic ties with Bonn, seven years after the 10-nation Arab break-off when West Germany recognized Israel in 1965.

Only five days before the Arab guerrilla operation that left 11 Israeli sportsmen dead in Munich, unofficial West German-Egyptian talks ended in the Olympic city with the announcement of a milestone visit to Bonn this month by Foreign Minister Mohammed Murad Ghaib.

Now the visit — the first such since the 1965 break — appears in doubt. "Nobody knows," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said when asked if Ghaib's visit was still on.

One newspaper called on the government to cancel the visit. The anti-Arab reaction in official circles was demonstrated by the resignation of Rudolf Werner from the co-chairmanship of an Arab-German friendship group in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament. Werner, a member of the opposition Christian Democratic party, said he would not rejoin the group until Arab governments clearly condemn terrorism.

Brandt himself was clearly angered by the lack of response from Arab leaders to his personal appeal for intervention to save the Israeli hostages. A spokesman for the chancellor told the television audience Bonn's relations with Cairo had been strained because President Anwar Sadat refused help when Brandt telephoned him to ask for safe passage for the Israelis should West Germany let the guerrillas fly their hostages to Cairo.

Even Hans-Juergen Wischewski, the leading expert on the Middle East in Brandt's Social Democratic party and the chief architect of Arab-German reconciliation, said in statement that the "murderous terrorism" had caused "irreparable harm" to the Arab name in West Germany and the rest of the world.

Nixon administration proposes no tax hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders emerged from a meeting with President Nixon today and relayed a presidential pledge that "there will be no tax increase proposed by this administration."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, said they assumed when Nixon said "this administration" he meant there would be no tax increase proposed by the next Congress.

"No time limit was discussed," said Ford.

At a White House news conference following their two-hour meeting with Nixon, the two GOP leaders continued the drumfire of Republican criticism of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern's proposals.

Scott said what he called McGovern's "scheme a day" proposals would result in a $100-billion increase in the federal budget and would require a 100 per cent tax increase.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, re-election campaign director Clark MacGregor and 10 other Republican members of Congress joined in what Scott called "a very relaxed session" in the Cabinet Room.

After Scott declared that "a vote for McGovern is a vote for higher taxes, a vote for higher spending, a vote for higher unemployment and higher everything," Ford reported that "the President said this morning there will be no tax increase proposed by this administration."

Ford added that "the President was very clear... no tax increase is contemplated by this administration."

The administration has been studying the possibilities of a value-added tax—a form of a national sales tax—but the GOP leaders said this and other possible tax reform measures were not discussed.

MRS. WHITE HOSTESS FOR WMA MEETING

The Southside W.M.A. held its regular monthly meeting in the home of Martha White. The meeting was opened with a song. Polly Watson, president, presided during the business meeting. The club minutes and treasurer report was given by Belle Cooley. Margaret Cornelius presented the devotional. Refreshments were served during the fellowship hour.

MRS. JOHN DAVID TAYLOR

Braud-Taylor vows are solemnized

The First Baptist Church of Belle Chasse, La. was the setting for the recent candlelight ceremony uniting Pamela Jean Braud and John David Taylor in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elyde H. Braud of Belle Chasse. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Taylor of Blevins.

The bride chose a full length gown of silk organza and imported re-embroidered lace. The bodice featured a sunburst neckline of lace over silk organza and long full sleeves trimmed in lace. Her skirt was appliqued with rows of re-embroidered lace continuing around the cathedral train. She wore a camelot hat of matching lace covered with pearls. Her veil was floor length with a two-tier elbow blusher. She carried a cascade bouquet of green cymbidium orchids, yellow roses and philodendron.

Bridesmaids were attired in full length gowns of pale yellow dacon organza and white venise lace, and wore picture hats with matching ribbon. Bridesmaids were: Miss Karen Vicknair, Miss Cynthia Bealer, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Dorleen Marks and Mrs. Pauline Bodalamanti; Miss Tammy Taylor, niece of the groom, and Miss Keitha Pharr, cousin of the bride, served as flower girls. They carried white baskets of yellow roses, yellow and green carnations, and baby's breath.

Attending the groom were: Robert Taylor, brother of the groom, Byron Braud, brother of the bride, Larry Hicks, and Curtis Pharr, cousin of the bride. Thomas Taylor served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Thomas Carmen and W.L. Dunn.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests were entertained at a reception at the Agness Perez Hall in Belle Chasse.

Mrs. Braud received the guests wearing a full length evening gown of pale pink chiffon with a lace bodice.

Mrs. Taylor assisted in receiving guests wearing a full length gown of river blue crepe with beaded trim.

After a short honeymoon the couple will make their home in Blevins.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

She's Not Plugged In RAP:

My guy is not only in love with me but also with music and electricity. And I'm afraid I'm running third.

Whenever a song with a drum, organ-piano or bass guitar effect is on, he'll fake it, as though he's playing one of those instruments. He could be telling me he loves me, and bang!—the music makes him forget I'm there.

If not music, it's electricity. He took a course and thinks he knows all about it. Honest, I couldn't care less about circuits, etc.

I don't want to hurt his feelings but how do I get it across that I don't want to be—A SUBSTITUTE

SUB:
Maybe your guy has an insecurity problem, so he hides himself under music which he can "fake," and electricity which he understands.

Go to the park or somewhere quiet and talk to him about his life. (And if he insists on taking along a radio he won't shut off—maybe there's nothing more to talk about!)—SUE

DEAR SUBSTITUTE:
...And if Sue's last sentence hits the note on the head, then make a decision: either plug into his "great loves," (music and electricity), or break the circuit before total boredom

sets in.—HELEN

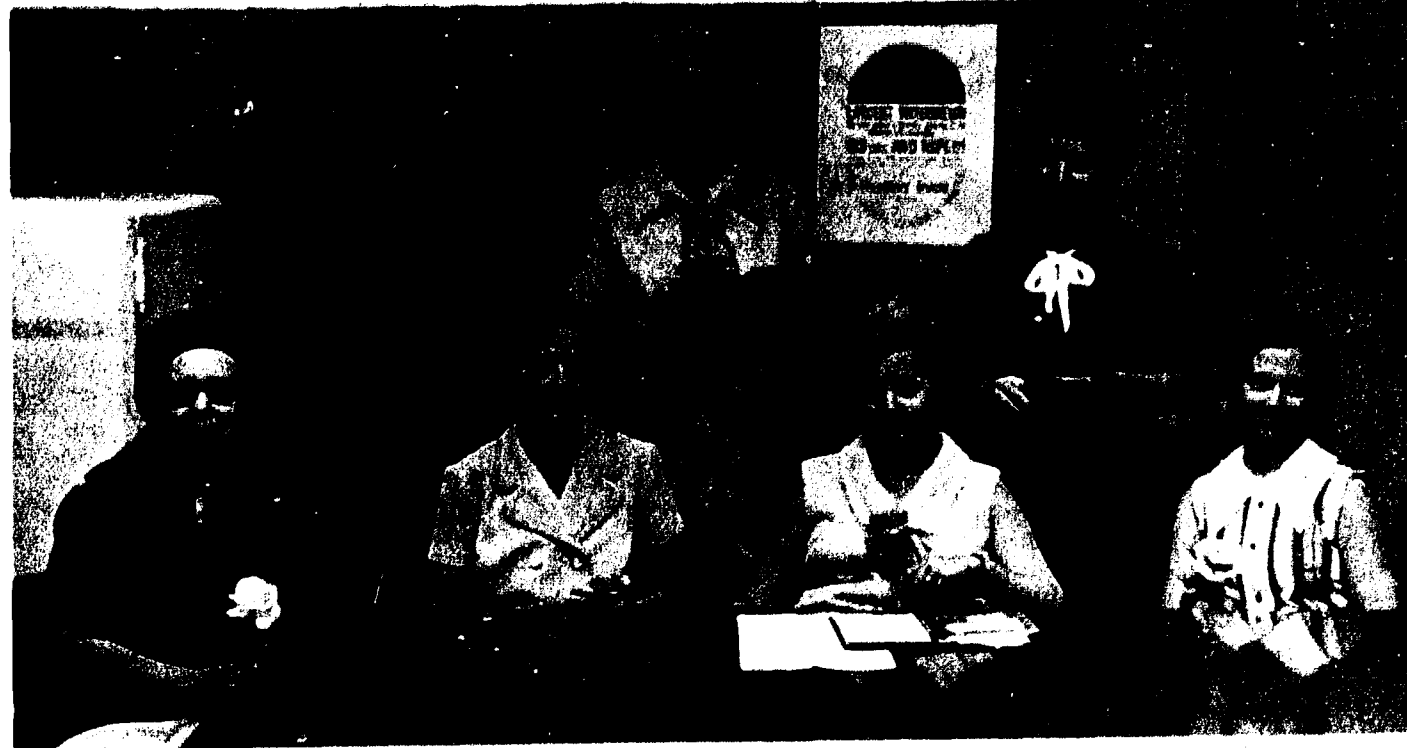

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:
I just started work in the sporting goods department of our biggest store. Naturally there are more men clerks than girls, so I get asked to lunch a lot, plus other things.

The trouble is, how do you know which guy is married? I heard one great-looking fella was, so I refused a date—and then he told me he wasn't—that the man who told me this just wanted to beat him out...but don't go with HIM because he was the biggest wolf in town. And his wife scratches and bites.

You can't believe anyone around here. It's fun getting invitations but I'm afraid to accept any of them.

Probably other young girls just starting to work have this trouble too. Shouldn't there be some kind of information service that tells us which men are married and which are "safe"?—INEXPERIENCED

DEAR 18:
The best "information service" is usually the older married woman who has been around the store long enough to spot a wolf at 20 paces. She can't always be 100 per cent accurate on "safeness," but at least she'll tell you which guys have wives.—HELEN AND SUE

NEW OFFICERS—New officers installed at the Council of Garden Club meeting are: at left, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger, parliamentarian, Mrs. Pauline Walker, first vice president, Mrs.

Lonnie Crow, secretary-reporter, Mrs. Charles Cary, president, Mrs. Otis Taylor, historian, and Mrs. Bennett Wood, second vice-president. Not pictured is Mrs. Ned Purtle, treasurer.

Council of Garden Club installs new officers

An installation service by Mrs. Hillman Koen, assisted by Miss Lora Ann Koen, installed the 1972-73 officers at the Hope Council of Garden Clubs meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office on August 30th. The new officers are: president, Mrs. Charles Cary; first vice president, Mrs. Pauline B. Walker; second vice president, Mrs. Bennett Wood; secretary-reporter-publicity, Mrs. L. C. Crow; treasurer, Mrs. Ned Purtle; historian, Mrs. Otis Taylor, and parliamentarian, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger.

The president called the meeting to order and the following business transacted: The president inquired about secretary books, other council books and property. A property chairman will be appointed to locate and inventory. Mrs. Owen Nix, president, Iris Garden Club, announced the fall luncheon will be September 21st. Place and time to be announced later.

Council members voted to meet the third Wednesday each month at 10:30 a.m. in the chamber of commerce conference room. They also voted to have dessert-card parties in October, November, February and March as a fund raising project. Committee consisting of member from each club to work out details. Different projects for city beautification and ecology were discussed. After discussion on flower shows, members voted to have a Christmas Open House with all clubs participating. This would not be a "standard" flower show.

Mrs. Carey will announce the committee chairmen at the fall luncheon. She also reminded the members of the Arkansas Federation of Garden Clubs fall board meeting, September 19 at Hot Springs and urged all club presidents to attend and any other members, who can, to attend this meeting.

AT THE WATER HOLE—Following a rough practice Wednesday, members of the Hope High School Bobcat football team gather around a water hydrant to cool off.

Ferguson could be next Heisman Trophy winner

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles' word is good enough for University of Southern California Coach John McKay.

Broyles, head coach of fourth-ranked Arkansas, says his quarterback, Joe Ferguson, is a legitimate Heisman Trophy candidate.

"Frank wouldn't say he was great if he wasn't," McKay said when asked about Ferguson.

McKay can judge for himself Saturday night when the eighth-ranked Trojans meet the Ra-zorsbacks. McKay and his Trojans have seen plenty of Ferguson on film.

"He looks like he throws the ball well, often and accurately," McKay said. "We've seen Scott Hunter (Alabama) and Jim Plunkett (Stanford) and other great quarterbacks over the years who have made it in the pros. But, there's no way to compare until you see a player in person."

In addition to Ferguson's strong right arm, McKay is concerned because the Arkansas quarterback is a senior. "We'd rather be facing a sophomore quarterback," McKay said. "We'll start six kids on defense who have never played a down of defensive football in college. With a senior at quarterback, you never know how much Wishbone they're going to run or how much of this or how much of that."

How do you defense a passer with the ability of Ferguson, who completed 160 of 271 passes for 2,203 yards in 1971? "We've played against a bunch of good passers," McKay said. "You either rush a bunch or hold back a lot. We haven't decided what we'll do against Ferguson."

McKay said before the season began that the Trojans' defense would have talent, speed and desire but little experience.

"I shudder when I think of sending some of our youngsters against an accomplished passer such as Ferguson," he said.

Offensively, the Trojans have some weapons such as tailback Rod McNeill, fullback Sam Cunningham, tight end Charles Young and split receivers Lynn Swann and Edsel Garrison.

McNeill, a 218-pounder with excellent speed, missed the 1971 season with a hip injury and was held out of contact work last spring.

The Trojans were 6-4-1 last year and McKay says they wouldn't have lost four if McNeill had been healthy.

"He was just what we needed—a big tailback who could make our offense go," McKay said.

McKay said McNeill believes he's as effective as he was two years ago, but McKay is unsure.

Cunningham, a 6-3, 212, has 4.6 speed in the 40 and was the Trojans' leading rusher last year until a knee injury kept him out of the final two games. He has averaged more than five yards a carry while netting 1,252 yards during his two years at USC.

San Francisco's Ron Bryant stopped San Diego on six hits while Jim Ray Hart and Garry Maddox homered for the Giants. It was the second home run in two games for Hart since his recall from the Pacific Coast League.

Pirates blank Cubs 4-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Not only are the Pittsburgh Pirates trouncing the rest of the National League East, but they're doing it with five aces.

Nothing illegal, mind you. It's just that Pittsburgh's pitching staff, usually overlooked amidst the crash of the booming Bucco bats, finally is starting to get some of the recognition it deserves.

"They have a good, steady pitching staff and they can send a good man out against you every game," observed Chicago pitching coach Larry Jansen after Dock Ellis blanked the Cubs 4-0 on seven hits Wednesday night. "They can use five starters because they have five good pitchers. Most teams have a problem finding that many."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 6-3, Montreal trimmed the New York Mets 7-3, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 3-2 and San Francisco trounced San Diego 6-0. Atlanta and Houston were not scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Baltimore 4-3, Boston shaded New York 2-0, Oakland battered Chicago 9-1, Minnesota blanked Texas 2-0, California downed Kansas City 3-1 and Cleveland nosed out Milwaukee 4-3 but dropped the nightcap 5-2.

Pittsburgh's ninth consecutive victory equaled the Pirates' longest winning streak of the baseball season and boosted their runaway lead in the East Division to 13½ games over the Cubs. The magic number to clinch their third division title in a row is 12.

The Bucs got off quickly with three runs in the first inning against Dan McGinn on singles by Gene Cline and Al Oliver, Roberto Clemente's triple and a single by Richie Hebner. Ellis didn't walk anyone and fanned six while hurling one of his rare complete games—he has a chronically sore elbow—and lowering the pitching staff's earned run average, which was a scintillating 2.96 entering the contest.

Dave Concepcion stroked two singles and drove in the decisive run in Cincinnati's triumph over Los Angeles. The Reds increased their lead in the West Division to nine games over idle Houston. Billy Grabarkewitz hit a three-run homer for all the Dodger runs and Cincy's Joe Morgan made his first error in 61 games.

Ron Woods and Ken Singleton hit home runs and relief ace Mike Marshall preserved Mike Torrez' 15th pitching victory as Montreal whipped the Mets. Woods homered in the second inning, ex-Mets Tim Lincecum doubled in the third, Singleton homered in the sixth and Bob Bailey delivered a two-run single in the ninth.

Marshall retired the last six batters and recorded his 16th save to go with 14 victories, all

Scott Binnon:

The big E

By DAVE BAER

Scott Binnon calls it the Big E. Above everything else, he confidently says, the Big E will determine the fortunes of the Arkansas Razorbacks' defense in 1972.

Binnon, an honor student off the field and a forceful, talented linebacker on the field, likes to use the words "team" and "togetherness" when talking about the Razorbacks. The coming season, his senior year, holds much in store for the Big E is there to help things along.

"It's hard to say what will happen before the season starts, but we're real optimistic right now," Binnon said this week as the Razorbacks were completing preparations for their September 9 opener against Southern California at War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock. "I believe that the thing that will carry us this year is the same thing that carried us last year and that's enthusiasm."

"Hustle, a lot of desire and a lot of "want to" are essential to having a good defense, regardless of the talent on hand," he continued. "We have a chance to have a good defensive football team, but if that Big E, enthusiasm, is missing then it could be bad for us."

Binnon (6-0, 206 lbs.) is the starting weakside linebacker. He lettered as a sophomore fullback, but was switched to linebacker in the spring of 1971. The success he experienced in switching positions came as no surprise because Scott was an All-State linebacker at Bishop, Texas, during his high school days.

Born in Arkansas, Scott moved to Texas for his school years and helped Bishop post a 36-7 record over a four-year span. This summer, he returned "home" with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Binnon. The Binnons now live in Little Rock and Scott says it's good to be back.

Writers have picked Scott for

All-Conference honors, but he could care less. "I just want to be a part of a team that plays the best football it possibly can," he said. "The only personal goal I have is to satisfy myself. As far as all so-and-so, or all this-and-that are concerned I don't even think about it."

"I just want this season to be one I'll remember 15 to 20 years from now," he said. "Our attitude on defense is to have a special season."

How does Scott feel about Southern Cal?

"They're like Texas," he said. "They're loaded with good athletes, and any inexperience they might have is made up for by great athletic ability. I like to play against teams like them because of the challenge."

"I think the defense has fought hard through practice, and in the last few days we've begun to pick up," he added. "The Big E, that good enthusiasm, is beginning to come around."

Smith is favored in today's match

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The match that may decide the top player in the 1972 U.S. LTA All-American rankings takes place today during the men's quarter-finals of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Top-seeded Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., meets sixth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Miami and, although Smith is the betting favorite, Ashe's credentials in the tournament are more impressive.

Smith is the defending champion and No. 1 on the special All-American rankings for both contract and independent pros. Ashe is No. 2 and the tournament's 1968 winner.

Both players are noted for their strong serves, but while Ashe has lost only one set in his three previous rounds this year, Smith has dropped at least one to each opponent.

Billy Jean King, the top-seeded defending women's champ, said either Ashe or Smith will take this year's crown. "With the kind of bad bounces we're getting on these courts, the only person who can win is a man with a big serve," Mrs. King said.

She beat the poor playing surface in the West Side Tennis Club Stadium Wednesday and advanced to the women's quarter-finals with 6-2, 7-5 victory over eighth-seeded Virginia Wade of England. But it was the match between third-seeded Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Russia's Olga Morozova that brought the crowd to its feet.

Miss Evert beat Mrs. Morozova, the 1972 Eastern Grass Courts women's titleholder, 3-6, 6-3, 7-6. Following the match, Miss Evert said she never thought she'd be the winner.

"I never thought I could win, Oiga was serving well. The only time I got confident was when it was 3-1 in the tie-breaker," Miss Evert said. She won the tie breaker 5-1 with the last point coming on a lob by Mrs. Morozova that just dropped out.

In another match, Pam Teeguarden lost to ninth-seeded Kerry Melville of Australia. Miss Melville beat Miss Teeguarden, the 20-year-old upset winner over Evonne Goolagong, 6-0, 6-2.

Razorback captains are named

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Seniors Louis Campbell, Scott Binnion, Joe Ferguson and Tom Reed were named Wednesday as captains for the Arkansas Razorbacks' football opener Saturday in Little Rock against Southern California.

The Razorbacks went through a short, snappy workout Wednesday and Coach Frank Broyles came away pleased. "We had a lot of enthusiasm today," Broyles said. "They looked like Razorbacks. That is encouraging."

Broyles also had some encouraging words concerning injuries. He said senior fullback Mike Saint, who has been sidelined by a sore toe, will practice Thursday for the first time in a week and should be ready for Arkansas' opener Saturday against Southern California.

Broyles also said defensive back Jim Irwin, who suffered a broken nose Monday, will play Saturday. Starting tight end Steve Hedgepeth missed Wednesday's practice because of a sore toe, but Broyles said the injury was not serious.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Placekicker Mike Clark helped power the Dallas Cowboys to their first Super Bowl appearance ... now he's been booted off the team.

Clark, whose unerring performance in clutch situations played a major role in Dallas' surviving the playoffs and playing in the Super Bowl two seasons ago, was picked up on Cowboy waivers Wednesday by the Buffalo Bills.

His departure means Austrian Toni Fritsch, a soccer-style kicker in his second year of football, becomes the No. 1 placekicker for the National Football League champions. Fritsch is the second youngster to push aside a veteran. Dallas dealt four-year veteran punter Ron Widby to the Green Bay Packers and replaced him with rookie Marv Bateman.

Clark, a 10-year veteran, booted two field goals against Cleveland two years ago in the playoffs and provided Dallas with a 6-2 triumph. The Cowboys had defeated Detroit 5-0 in the first playoff game of that season on a Clark field goal and a safety.

In other pro football transactions Wednesday, Pat Studstill, an 11-year veteran wide receiver and punter, was acquired by the New England Patriots on waivers from the Los Angeles Rams. Studstill, who averaged 41.4 yards per punt last season, will be used solely as a punter by New England. He spent seven seasons with Detroit and the last four with the Rams.

Mike Mercer, a 10-year pro veteran who came out of retirement as a real estate agent to attempt a comeback with the Oakland Raiders, has one more exhibition game left to prove his ability. He averaged 36.5 yards on six punts against San Francisco last Sunday. Mercer didn't play last season but played on six teams from 1961-1970.

Meanwhile, the New Orleans Saints palced nine players on waivers, including 1971 No. 2 draft pick Sam Holden of Grambling, and the Atlanta Falcons traded running back Jim "Cannonball" Butler to the Philadelphia Eagles for running back Tony Baker. The Pittsburgh Steelers dealt defensive tackle Lloy J. Voss to the Denver Broncos for an undisclosed 1973 draft selection.

Pennant is up for grabs

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

"There's no reason to believe that we can't win 23 games in a row."

No, the pressure of a tight pennant race hasn't gotten to Earl Weaver. The Baltimore Orioles' manager insists that he isn't flipping his baseball cap.

Optimistic as always, Baltimore's cocky field boss looked on the sunny side despite a tough 4-3 loss to the Detroit Tigers Wednesday night that dropped his team to fourth place, two games behind, in the American League East.

"We've spotted them a couple," said Weaver. "There are 23 to go ... and we've got to get hot, that's all there is to it."

U.S. boxers use plain ole beat 'em strategy

MUNICH (AP) — "Just plain ol' beat 'em," is the strategy of U.S. boxers Jesse Valdez and Ricardo Carreras as Primo Glencarlo says his Italian basketball team is going to have to learn a little boxing, too, to knock off the unbeaten Yanks.

Valdez and Carreras, America's "Latin Connection" in the ring, moved into the semifinals of the 20th Summer Olympics Wednesday as the Games, tragically interrupted by the Arab terrorists' murderous attack on the Israeli team, resumed following a 24-hour postponement and a memorial for the slain Olympians.

After heavyweight Duane Bobick's loss to Cuban Teofilo Stevenson on Tuesday, it was beginning to look as if the critics were right in saying U.S. amateur boxing had gone into a dismal skid.

But the two American Air Force sergeants—Valdez, a 25-year-old Mexican-American welterweight from Houston, and Carreras, 23, a New York bantamweight of Puerto Rican origin—put at least a temporary halt to the criticism.

AP picks Hope over Prescott

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Catholic "used" Little Rock Hall last year. The Warriors would like to turn the tables Thursday night.

The Rockets upset Hall 22-15 last year and went on to a share of the Class AAAA championship.

This is supposed to be Hall's year to roar, but the Rockets have the advantage of having played a game.

Catholic, ranked eighth in the high school poll, opened its season last week with a 25-9 victory over Stuttgart. Thursday night will be the season opener for the top-ranked Warriors.

Catholic may be a little sharper because of the game experience, but Hall has revenge as a motive.

LR HALL 22, LR CATHOLIC 20.

Pine Bluff will also have the benefit of game experience when the Zebras open their AAAA schedule against Little Rock Central, but for the Zebras the first week was a bad trip. Forrest City crushed Pine Bluff 20-0 last week.

Central is among the four or five teams given a shot at the AAAA title should Hall stumble. The Tigers will get off on the right foot.

LR CENTRAL 13, PINE BLUFF 7.

In AAA-East, there is an early showdown between Helena and Little Rock McClellan.

Helena opened with a 20-12 conference victory over Blytheville. McClellan warmed up with a 15-7 victory over Conway.

McClellan has the home field and Virgil Pearcy.

MC CLELLAN 20, HELENA 14.

Last week's percentage was .685. Here are other predictions involving AAAA, AAA and AA teams around the state:

Spitz returns to California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Mark Spitz, the American swimmer who won a record seven gold medals at the Olympics before the games were interrupted by terrorism, returned home Wednesday and said he was pleased that the games were resumed.

"I think if they (the games) were stopped, it would have become a political thing," he said after being greeted at the airport by a cheering crowd of about 500.

The games resumed in Munich on Wednesday after memorial services were held for 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation killed by Palestinian guerrillas.

Spitz, 22, said he wanted a few days rest with his family at home in suburban Carmichael.

"I'm not concerned with the glory of my medals right now," Spitz said. "I'm more concerned that the games continue" and that people work "to see that this doesn't happen again."

Spitz, a Jew, said he had been under the protection of plainclothesmen, provided by both West Germany and the United States, from the time the terrorists first invaded the Israeli delegation's apartment.

"I can't say I'm the best," Valdez grinned after he had fancy-danced, pummeled and jabbed Russian Anatoly Kholov into submission, "but the fans seem to think so. I don't want to brag—but I guess I'm pretty good."

Carreras had a tougher time of it, winning a split decision from another Russian, Vasily Solomin, by dominating the first and third rounds while the Soviet boxer counter-punched effectively in the second.

Carreras got a bit of a break when Spain's Juan Francisco Rodriguez lost to Alfonso Zamora, a Mexican whom Carreras feared less.

Zamora won when Rodriguez bent over to pick up his mouthpiece and the referee, thinking he was falling over, halted the bout. Rodriguez went haywire, crying, pounding the canvas and charging the referee before being restrained.

"Too bad for him but okay for me," Carreras said.

Valdez will face Cuban Emilio Correa, who outpointed West German Guenter Meier.

Glencarlo believes his team's effectiveness at stopping the Yanks from close in will spell the difference in Thursday night's semifinal. Russia plays Cuba in the other semifinal.

"The United States," Italy's coach said, "is very tough defensively and in rebounding. Beating the Americans to the boards is going to be one of our problems."

"We must box out, something we haven't been able to do very well. I stressed that in our workouts since Monday," he added.

Italy is 5-2 here while the Yanks, 7-0, have never lost in 62 Olympic contests since the sport was introduced in the 1936 Berlin Games.

Another thing Americans have failed to do is much of anything in much of anything in Greco-Roman wrestling. In the first round involving 10 weight classes, only Air Force Capt. Wayne Baughman, 31, of Universal City, Tex., managed a victory, pinning Sweden's Roland Anderson in a 190-pound match.

Odd couple returns to Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Fran Tarkenton and Bud Grant, on the surface, would appear to be the National Football League's Odd Couple—Tarkenton, outspoken and daring; Grant, impassive and demanding.

Tarkenton returns to quarterback the Minnesota Vikings and add boldness to an offense some critics say is conservative.

But the Odd Couple could have some surprises in store for their opponents in the 1972 season.

"He (Grant) is a man I have tremendous respect for," says

Tarkenton, who started his career with the expansion Vikings 1961 and now returns to them after five seasons with the New York Giants. "I think he has the ability to handle any type of situation."

Grant, who has a 46-21-3 in five seasons as Viking coach, says of Tarkenton: "I don't think he feels he has anything to prove. He wants only to earn his way into this team."

But earning his way does not mean scrambling.

"We won't make a living out of his running," said Grant, who feels Tarkenton's greatest assets are his mobility, his competitiveness and experience of 11 NFL seasons.

That probably means the Vikings have not rewritten their playbook for an offense that was criticized frequently last year, even though the Vikings were 11-3, and that was blamed in part for a 20-12 loss to Super Bowl champion Dallas in a first round playoff.

Grant stressed one point about the new relationship.

"We feel most of our big play people play defense," he said. "Much of what we do on the field will continue to reflect that belief."

Alan Page, starting his sixth year at defensive tackle, led Minnesota's "big play" men in 1971 and was named the NFL's most valuable player after the Vikings won their fourth straight Central Division title in the National Conference and allowed the fewest points in the NFL for the third straight season.

The Vikings should know how well their chances for a fifth straight Central title shape up, and how well Tarkenton blends with Grant, after the first three games against division contenders: Washington Sept. 18, Detroit Sept. 24 and Miami Oct. 1.

Railroads pay their way in Arkansas.

In fact, the railroads are one of the leading tax contributors to the support of schools and local government in the state. For this purpose, last year the Railroads of Arkansas paid nearly $5 million in property and other taxes.

As one of the state's largest industries, we've invested over a quarter of a billion dollars in permanent facilities. And we're proud of our nearly 9,000 Arkansas employees to whom we annually pay approximately $90 million.

The Railroads of Arkansas are pulling for you. Fulfilling our corporate responsibilities and keeping our state's economy on the move are two of the ways we prove it.

The Railroads of Arkansas are pulling for you.

Dachau: Man's inhumanity to man

'A lot of people wish the place would close down. People say it's 27 years since the war ended, let the grass grow over it. But if you don't remember the past, you're condemned to repeat it ...'

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

DACHAU, West Germany —(NEA)—When Pfc. Tony Rowland recently joined the unit of United States soldiers at the small Army base here, he startled his company commander, a Lt. Wigley, with a strange offer of assistance.

Pfc. Rowland said in Lt. Wigley's office that he had a special knowledge of the area. He said that during World War II his father had been in the Dachau concentration camp, which borders the military post. Pfc. Rowland said that his father had been stationed here while a member of the S.S., the feared elite Nazi police corps.

Lt. Wigley thanked Pfc. Rowland but did not see how he could use the information.

The Army camp, named Eastman Barracks, had been virtually closed down for the last year because of U.S. military cutbacks in the area. It was recently brought back for an encore. It was hastily renovated so that the expected 20,000 or so GIs in Europe coming for the Olympics would not descend like homeless locusts on Munich, which is currently suffering a housing shortage due to the games.

The cadre here, made up of Military Police units from posts in Germany was assigned "to keep law and order."

Pfc. Rowland had been stationed in Baumholder, about 500 kilometers from here.

"When I wrote my dad that I was going to be stationed here for awhile," said Pfc. Rowland, "he wrote back that I should visit the concentration camp. He thinks people should always remember about man's inhumanity to man, so that it won't happen again. He told me about one particular wall that I should see, where he watched 3,000 people lined up and shot to death."

Pfc. Rowland, a broad, blond 18-year-old with calf-like blue eyes, believes he can see the wall from the window of the sparse barracks room where he works as the post "disc jockey." That is really a glorified title for a young guy from Spokane, Wash., who sits with fatigue shirt fashionably out of his pants, sticks rock records on a phonograph with faulty needle and periodically announces on the public address system when the next bus departs for Munich, nine miles southeast.

The wall is behind three rows of stark barbed wire fences and he can see one of the watchtowers that was once manned with spotlight and machine guns to discourage the half-alive prisoners, "political enemies of the German state," from escaping.

Dachau concentration camp is now a museum. It was the first of all Nazi concentration camps and their prototype. It was built in March, 1933, two months after Hitler came to power. The camp was made to house 5,000 inmates, but usually 12,000 prisoners were shoveled into the barracks. The prisoners were flogged, starved, worked to exhaustion, skimpily clothed in even the most freezing weather. The lives of uncounted thousands ended in the Dachau crematoria.

Pfc. Rowland's father told him he was a clerical worker for the S.S. The senior Rowland was an enlisted man, said his son, and was stationed in Dachau from January, 1945, until shortly before the U.S. Army liberated the camp on April 29, 1945.

"Dad didn't talk a whole lot about it," said Pfc. Rowland, "but he did say he saw terrible things. He saw Jews beaten to death, and chewed to death by the Nazi's dogs. He saw people die from medical experiments on them. For instance, Nazi doctors were looking for a malaria cure. So they inoculated some prisoners with the disease. The experiments failed. The prisoners died."

"Dad was just a young guy — he's 55 now, so he must've been, what, 28 then — and he was scared stiff. He said he wanted to do something to stop that stuff. But he saw three of his buddies get caught plotting to overthrow the camp commandant. Those guys got new striped uniforms. They became prisoners in the camp, not guests."

S.S. enlisted man Rowland and about 30 fellow troopers, said Pfc. Rowland, knew the future for the Germans was hopeless by mid-April, 1945. They escaped to nearby Augsburg and gave themselves up to the advancing U.S. forces. After the war Rowland was brought to the United States, said his son, and made to stand trial for war crimes. "He wasn't convicted and he was even allowed to stay in the states," said the younger Rowland.

Pfc. Rowland put on a Beatles album now, for the enrichment of the tourist troops. Pfc. Rowland said that his "audience" is here to see the sights, to catch some of the Olympics, to drink in the beer halls and to try their luck with the Munich girls. Others will go to the legalized brothels, like the one nearby on Dachauerstrasse, where they find that the rates for patrons during the Olympics is up to 70 deutsche marks (about $23) from the usual 40 Dms. (about $13). Many of the GIs, said Pfc. Rowland, didn't even know Dachau existed. A lot of them don't care. "They say they don't want to get bogged down in history," he said. "Others say maybe things like this are still going on, like in Nam."

To the historian with lively imagination, some of these GIs might have been the sons of men who liberated Dachau, embattled soldiers who are seen, in a documentary film in the museum, holding their mouths as they look into an open grave at the hundreds of freshly dead emaciated naked bodies of prisoners.

Some of the tourist GIs have since visited the grisly museum when they found out about it from reading a story in Stars and Stripes, the serviceman's newspaper. Others had noticed this buried item in the facts pamphlet issued by the U.S. Army's Olympic Support Site Information Office here: "... While you are here you might want to take photographs at the international memorial to concentration victims (it is adjacent to the Eastman Barracks)." Without even taking a breath for a paragraph, it went on: "One thing is for sure, you'll certainly want to visit the Volkstest (people's festival) of Dachau which is second in size only to Munich's famed Oktoberfest ..."

Pfc. Rowland says he is not ashamed of his father's past. "No," he said. "I mean, I would've been scared to death, too, if I was in his boots. Once he got into the S.S. he couldn't get out. I respect him for telling me about it. It's like something I read in the paper the other day. It was a story about Dachau, and said that a lot of people, especially Germans, and Germans around here, wish the place would close down. People say it's 27 years since the war ended, and, hell, let the grass grow over it. But the article also quoted this guy, don't remember his name, who said something like, 'If you don't remember the past, you're condemned to repeat it.' Dad used to tell me something like that, too."

Then a spooky, almost hokey thing happened.

The Beatles began to sing, "Yesterday, all my troubles seemed so far away, Now it looks as though they're here to stay, Oh, I believe in yesterday ..."

Court fight launched

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Lawyers for the National Railroad Passenger Corp. (Amtrak) have launched a federal court fight against Oklahoma County and state officials responsible for a raid on an Amtrak train which was serving liquor by the drink in Oklahoma.

Amtrak lawyer Lloyd Benefield contended in the suit filed here Tuesday that federal laws organizing the railroad company barred the application of state statutes.

The corporation shall not be subject to any state or other law pertaining to the transportation of passengers by railroad as it relates to rates, routes or service," Benefield said the law read.

Oklahoma Alcoholic Beverage Control Board agents, accompanied by Asst. Dist. Atty. Irvin Box and his investigator, bought mixed drinks on an Amtrak train July 18 while it was en route to Oklahoma City.

The officers arrested club car barman George H. Bell and steward John Gibson, both of Chicago, when the train stopped in Oklahoma City.

Similar raids were staged on Amtrak trains in Kansas. Amtrak, while contending the raids were illegal, closed the bars on trains traveling through those two states.

DACHAU THEN ... U. S. representatives in 1945 view the fate of "political enemies of the German state."

to be a pretty good one to keep those bludgeonings from really hurting him.

West cashes two spade tricks and shifts to a diamond. South has looked over dummy by this time and seen that, assuming trumps don't break 3-0, he will be able to draw trumps and try the club finesse for an overtrick.

He plays a high trump and bludgeonings start. East shows out! He has to lose a trump trick and cannot afford to lose a club also.

If he takes the club finesse he will lose that trick but he does not have to. West has the three trumps and he can use an elimination play to catch West in an end play.

South simply takes the two high trumps and his good spade. Then he plays out the rest of the high diamonds. West's best defense is to refuse to ruff, but this does him no good. South simply throws West in with his high trump and forces West to make the losing lead of a club or spade.

A—Bid five clubs. Your partner cannot have good enough spades to warrant a spade contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing, West has bid two clubs over your one spade. This is passed around to you. What do you do now?

The poet who wrote, "Beneath the bludgeonings of chance, my head is bloody but unbowed," probably was not a bridge player.

If he was, he would have

A special milk for growing people.

It's special because it's from Borden. Borden knows that growing up is a hard job. It takes lots of energy and lots of help. And Borden Milk provides some of that help. It's a rich whole milk left pretty much the way Nature made it except for the addition of Vitamin D. And your growing people will love the taste...it's something good to grow on.

If it's Borden, it's got to be good.

RESCUER ARRESTED

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eugene Schmidt, 56, of Geneva, Ohio, was photographed after trying to rescue two men in a plane crash last weekend. The picture led to his arrest Wednesday on a warrant charging him with conversion of property.

Schmidt was recognized by John Petal, manager of Wings Athletic Club in Cleveland, who saw the picture in a newspaper. Schmidt is charged with taking $457 from the club while he worked there as a part-time bartender last August.

Schmidt and two other men made an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the pilot and passenger of a small plane which crashed near Geneva last Sunday.

Saratoga and studied music under Miss Klovla Ellis, Miss Bess Ellis, Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart and Mrs. W.T. Howell. She furthered her music study at Hardeman College in Henderson, Tenn. In addition, Mrs. Hatch studied public school music at Henderson State College. She is past president of the Friday Music Club.

Mrs. Hatch has worked in the Hope public school system as Elementary Principal for 17 years' is presently principal of Paisly Elementary School. She is a member of the Hope Church of Christ.

Miss Marynell Branch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Branch of Hope is a senior at Hope High School. Miss Branch's musicianship study experiences include nine years of piano and three years of organ under the instruction and training of Mrs. R.L. Gosnell of Hope. Miss Branch is frequently guest organist at the First Presbyterian Church and has attended the national piano playing auditions for nine years, is a member of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists. Miss Branch is a Clarinetist in Hope High School Band.

Bethel A.M.E. Church is the guest observing congregation. The program starts at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Calendar Of Events

Pastor W.M. Martin and members of the Rising Star Baptist Church invite you to share in their 58th Church Anniversary Sunday September 10, 1972 at 2:30 p.m. The speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. G.W. Wynn, pastor of the Bethel A.M.E. Church of Hope.

Board to reconsider decision

MUNICH (AP) — Rick DeMont, 16-year-old world record-holder from San Rafael, Calif., has been stripped of his gold medal in the 400-meter freestyle swimming event, but the executive board of the International Olympic Committee agreed Thursday to take another look at the decision made on the basis of a drug violation.

The executive board discussed the matter briefly this morning and then announced it would hold a meeting Friday to listen to Clifford Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic committee.

An IOC spokesman, asked about the announcement Wednesday vacating the medal, said: "That was right."

But the spokesman then gave the details of the further meetings, indicating a U.S. appeal or protest was being considered. The spokesman, however, declined to elaborate.

Meanwhile, the 16-year-old DeMont was booked on a plane leaving Munich at 12:45 a.m. (7:45 a.m. EDT) for the United States.

He apparently had the medal with him.

While he refused to talk—he said on orders of Ken Treadway, the swimming team manager—teammates said:

"Sure he's got the medal. It's his."

People in the News

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Entertainer Isaac Hayes is turning his talents from the keyboard to the drawing board.

Hayes announced Wednesday he and a group of black businessmen are sponsoring $100 million in housing projects for low income families across the country.

"I have chosen this particular project because it meets one of the most important needs today — housing for black and poor people," the Academy Award-winning composer said.

Hayes said construction and development of garden apartment communities in various sections of the country will house more than 20,000 people in the next five years. Specific housing sites have not been chosen, but Hayes said he would like to see a majority of the units built in the South.

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Robeson, the actor-singer who aroused controversy in the post-World War II era with his affection for the Soviet Union, will be presented the National Urban League's Whitney M. Young Memorial Award on Saturday.

Presentation of the award to the 74-year-old Robeson will be made here Saturday at half-time ceremonies during the Whitney M. Young Memorial Classic between Grambling College and Morgan State College.

Robeson, known for his portrayals of "Othello" and "Emperor Jones" and his rendition of "Ol' Man River," lived for a number of years in the Soviet Union.

He became a controversial figure when he refused to tell a congressional committee whether he had ever been a Communist.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. economists, including John Kenneth Galbraith, former ambassador to India, will visit mainland China for three weeks, the Federation of American Scientists announced today.

The Americans will be guests of the Institute of Economics of the Academy of Sciences of China, the FAS said. No date for the trip was given.

Besides Galbraith, the others are Wassily Leontief, professor of economics at Harvard, and James Tobin, professor of economics at Yale. Galbraith, who was ambassador to India in the Kennedy administration, also is a professor at Harvard.
